

Back to CV

I like those fields that slightly chance the way you see the world and graph theory, which at the beginning of my master thesis was kind of scary, but now made me see things more "graph like". That being said, I have nearly no experience in the math of graphs, but only in their application (aka for machine learning)